

MAN FOUND DEAD IN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OFFICE

ATTORNEY FOR INSULL CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Refused to Answer in Senate Committee's Inquiry Today

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Daniel J. Schuyler, attorney for Samuel Insull, Chicago utilities magnate, will be cited to the senate for contempt for refusing today to answer questions put to him by Chairman Reed of the senate campaign funds investigating committee.

After State's Attorney Crowe of Chicago, another recalcitrant witness, had replied to queries put to him, Schuyler took the stand and although disclosing that Insull, who contributed heavily to the senatorial campaign fund of Frank L. Smith, had also given $45,000 to the local Cook county campaign, he refused to answer questions as to whom the money was to be paid.

Insull Spent $227,925. Additional testimony adduced today showed that Insull spent a minimum of $227,925 in the Illinois republican primary.

Insull, who at Chicago, refused to tell of his contributions to county organizations, then took the stand and testified that the sums told about by Crowe and Schuyler as coming from him were correct.

"The utilities operator denied that he had sought to conceal anything from the committee. He said he had given $40,000 to the county campaign and the recipients were at liberty to publish the amounts but that he could not give the names without violating a confidence.

"The $10,000 he gave to Roy West, $10,000 he gave to Charles Barrett and the $5,000 he gave to Schuyler were not included in the $40,000, which he subsequently gave to Schuyler, he said.

Refused to Answer. Schuyler testified that Crowe's recollections of contributions were correct. "I gave as much as $2,000 of my own money as well as $5,000 for Mr. Insull," he said.

He believed the money was used for Smith.

"What other money did you raise?" asked Reed.

"I got that $5,000 from Mr. Insull and an additional $40,000," he replied, "the money coming in two items of $20,000 each.

Asked who he was raising the money for, Schuyler demurred.

"The parties of the committee is about exhausted with witnesses who won't answer questions," Reed said. "We are giving you a second chance, and this is the last one. Now do you refuse to answer?"

"No, I have told you the amounts," the witness replied.

Schuyler took the same position when similar questions were pressed. Reversing his former position, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe of Cook County, told the senate campaign funds committee that Insull gave $5,000 for the Cook County primary campaign last year.

Had Refused Answer. Upon his appearance at Chicago last August, Crowe declined to state this amount, taking the position that it was a county contest and was not a proper subject for senate investigation.

Recalling Crowe, Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, the chairman, read the previous testimony and said: "I now ask you to tell the committee the money you received from Mr. Insull to be used for any purpose in the primary election held in Illinois, on April 13, 1926."

"I received between $15,000 and $16,000 for the campaign of Captain Savage. I got $5,000 from Mr. Schuyler which he got from Samuel Insull."

Joseph P. Strang was a candidate for county judge.

"Is that all the money Samuel Insull contributed in the primary?" Reed asked.

Gave Crowe $5,000. "My recollection is that he gave $10,000 to Roy A. West, $15,000 to George E. Brennan and some to Smith's campaign. That $5,000 is all he gave to me."

Smith is Frank L. Smith, successful candidate for the republican senatorial nomination against the late Senator William B. McKinley and whose campaign funds from Insull, a utility magnate, are under fire.

Crowe told of other money he collected for Savage and of other money collected for the county ticket.

"Have you told us all the money's you know about," demanded Reed.

"Yes, that's all I have," Crowe said.

Talked of Own Ward. Reed developed that Crowe had been talking about expenses in his own ward.

"What I want is the amount of money the Crowe-Barrett organization spent," the chairman said.

Eastern Storm's Toll Mounts Today

THREE AUTOMOBILE MISHAPS IN DIXON DURING WEEK END; NO ONE SERIOUSLY INJURED

Four Young People of City Pinned Under Overturned Auto

Three automobile accidents were reported in the city over the week end, one of which might have proved serious to two Dixon young couples, who were said to have been pinned beneath their wrecked car. About 12 o'clock Saturday night the police were summoned to First street near Douglas avenue where a Ford roadster driven by Charles Sworn, Jr., in which two local young women and another young man were passengers, crashed into a Ford truck belonging to the Crombie battery station. The Sworn car was turned over, it was reported, and all of the occupants were pinned beneath it. Neighbors who heard the crash extricated the parties and removed them to a house where they were given medical attention and taken to their homes. All were somewhat bruised and cut in the crash but none was said to have been seriously injured.

Sunday morning about 12 o'clock, a Ford sedan owned and driven by Arthur O'Hare of this city, was overturned and badly wrecked at the corner of Third street and Peoria avenue. In attempting to evade a crash with another machine, O'Hare dove into the curb, his car turning over and breaking the glass in the body.

The occupants escaped without serious injury but the car was badly damaged and had to be towed to a garage for repairs.

Last evening about 11 o'clock the police were called to Seventh street and Depot avenue where a Ford coupe, which Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peterson were returning to their home, was struck by a car said to have been driven by Pete Whitver of Sterling.

Miss Edith Whitver of this city, who about three weeks ago crashed and with her brother, was taken to the police station, where both were given medical attention. Both cars were considerably damaged and were taken to a garage to be repaired.

Covert Unable to Identify Pork, So Case is Dismissed

Failure on the part of Joseph Covert, local stock buyer to identify dressed pork as that of six pure bred pigs stolen from the North Western stock yards about three weeks ago, led to the dismissal of action brought against Herbert Moeller and George Fox, both of this city in Justice Grover W. Gehant's court late Saturday afternoon. Search warrants which the department had issued following the theft resulted in the finding of a small amount of dressed young pork, but the complainant was unable to identify the porkers and the case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Fire Department Got Two Calls on Sunday

The fire department responded to two alarms over Sunday, neither of which resulted in any great amount of damage. At 4:45 Sunday afternoon the department made a run to the Gossard plant in the southwest part of the city where a grass fire was extinguished without damage. Last evening at 10:20 the department was summoned to the John Scriven residence, 312 East Seventh street, where an overheated furnace had started a fire, which was extinguished with slight damage.

Albert M. McKenney is Dead in New York

Relatives and friends in Dixon have received word of the death of a former Dixon man, Albert M. McKenney, of Onondaga, N. Y., who died Friday morning. "Rich McKenney of this city, is a brother of the deceased and Mrs. Jennie McKenney Gardner of Kansas, is a sister. Mr. McKenney had many friends among the older residents of Dixon.

Holiday for Many Offices of City Tuesday

Tuesday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, will be generally observed in Dixon. At the postoffice there will be no delivery of mail on either the city or rural routes and at the office there will be no window service. The regular collection and dispatch of mails will be the only activity of the day in the office.

The city hall, the court house, the public library, the offices of the Illinois Northern Utilities company and many of the offices of business and professional men will be closed for the entire day. The three banks will likewise observe the birthday anniversary of the country's first president by keeping their doors closed for the entire day.

WEDNESDAY WILL BE VISITING DAY AT HIGH SCHOOLS

P. T. A. Urges All Interested to Visit Local Schools

Following the custom established last year by the High School Parent-Teacher Association of Dixon, Wednesday afternoon has been designated as Visitors' Day. Although, of course, visitors are welcome in the schools at any time, the Association extends a special invitation to parents and other interested persons to attend the Wednesday afternoon session. It is the hope of those who have charge of the plans of the day that the success of last year's Visitors' Day, when about three hundred persons were present, will be repeated this year.

The regular schedule of classes will be carried out in each High School, the South Side periods beginning at 1:15, 2:30 and 3:45 o'clock, and the North Side periods at 1:00, 1:45 and 2:30 o'clock. Programs are being prepared which will inform visitors of the time and location of the various classes. In addition to the regular recitations, many of the departments notably the departments of Agriculture, Home Economics, Biology, History and Civics, English, Latin, Chemistry and Physics—have prepared interesting exhibits of their work during the year. This means that visitors will be enabled to gain an idea not only of the classroom procedure, but also of the work of a course for the year.

All visitors are to be asked to register in the classes which they attend, for the classes having the largest percentage of parents present will be awarded prizes by the Parent-Teacher Association.

Following the close of the regular school sessions, at 3:10 on the North Side and 3:30 on the South Side, there will be, in each High School, a brief informal meeting of parents and teachers to afford an opportunity for discussion while the impressions made by the recitations and exhibits are still fresh in mind.

Many Birds Saved in Illinois Past Winter

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Thoughtfulness of Illinois citizens saved the lives of thousands of birds in the two cold snaps this winter, in the opinion of William J. Stratton, director of the department of conservation.

During the most severe cold spell, ice covered the ground to such an extent that even smaller animals were unable to forage through it, Mr. Stratton said, and it was impossible for birds to pierce the ice coat.

In answer to a plea from the department of conservation bird lovers scattered small grain along hedges and fences during this period, thus giving birds their only food. Hundreds of letters have been received by the department of conservation, testifying to the efficacy of this suggestion.

Eight-Year-Old Boy Was Fatally Wounded

Main Speaker at Annual C. C. Meet

Secretary of the Retail Interests Chamber of Commerce, who will be the principal speaker at the community gathering under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce at the Elks Club Wednesday evening.

SPEAKER AT BIG GATHERING HERE IS GIVEN PRAISE

J. H. Hudson Will Speak Under Auspices C. C. on Wednesday

J. H. Hudson, Secretary of the Retail Interests Chamber of Commerce of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker at the Dixon Chamber of Commerce community gathering Wednesday evening at the Elks club.

Mr. Hudson joined the staff of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce on September 1st, 1926. Previous to that time he was Executive Secretary of the Bloomington Association of Commerce for twelve and one-half years. Under his management and supervision the Bloomington organization grew from a membership of 200 to 1,000, with an income in excess of $50,000.

He has been a director of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, has served as president of the Illinois Commercial Secretaries Association, and is in demand as a speaker throughout the central west.

Is Fine Speaker

The Keweenaw Robinson said a short time ago, "Mr. Hudson is a combination of Josh Billings, Artemus Ward, James Whitcomb Riley and Billy Sunday, all rolled into one. He drove home his ideas with a sledge hammer, and illustrated his points with a bunch of humor that will cause our sides to ache for weeks to come. 250 men left the room wearing a smile and holding their sides."

The Galesburg Republican Register on November 22nd, in commenting on Mr. Hudson's address, said: "The future of American business and every other institution which affects modern commercial life, at the Galesburg Club Monday evening. Hudson's business creed is one of optimism, enthusiasm, courage and pluck. His advice to Galesburg merchants and manufacturers was delivered in epigrams, anecdotes, and figures of speech which scintillated with good humor and wit. For every idea he had seemingly unexhaustible fund of appropriate stories. He kept his audience in almost continual uproar for over an hour and at the conclusion of the address the audience arose and applauded for several minutes."

800 MARINES AND SAILORS LANDED IN NICARAGUA FOR PROTECTION OF AMERICANS

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—American warships have landed 800 marines and blue jackets in Nicaragua for the announced purpose of keeping open railroad communication between Corinto and Managua and to provide further protection for Americans and foreigners.

The forces were put ashore at Corinto Sunday. News of their landing came last night after the state department had formally announced that Minister Eberhardt at Managua and Rear Admiral Lattimer, commanding the U. S. Special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters, had found it advisable, after a conference, to place a sizable guard along the railway.

Rescuing his attack on the administration's Central American policy, Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee told the American Jewish congress here last night that his policy should not rest solely upon mahogany and oil, depend for its carrying out upon war ships and marines.

SIXTEEN DIE IN BLIZZARD ALONG COAST

Property Damage Tallying Millions is Reported Today

New York, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Sixteen deaths and millions of dollars in property damage were caused by a snow, sleet and wind storm that had abated today after raging in the north and middle Atlantic coast states for 48 hours.

From Maine to Delaware Bay mountainous seas tossed ships about like match boxes, shattered dwellings and swept away piers and board walks.

Snow fell to a depth of two feet in some places while the temperature dropped to ten degrees below zero.

The storm took its heaviest death toll off Provincetown, Mass., where eight coast guardsmen lost their lives when a patrol boat was tossed ashore, and the entire boat's crew was lost as two destroyers vainly rushed to rescue them.

Other deaths attributed to the storm included four in Pittsburgh, two in Boston, one at South Amherst, N. J., and the second officer of a large off Amherst light ship outside New York harbor.

New Jersey beach resorts were hit hard. From Asbury Park to Cape May, high tides and great waves caused extensive damage to hotels, shops, cottages and other structures. At Atlantic City a 100 foot section of its famous board walk was lifted by a wave and deposited on the top of a building.

Many Craft Wrecked. Many small craft and some larger ones were thrown on reefs bars and beaches along the entire coastline. Waves at times reached 50 feet in height. Coast shipping practically was suspended and ocean vessels were delayed 12 to 24 hours as a result of the storm which extended far out to sea.

The tide in New York Harbor was the highest in 20 years. Damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars was done to piers.

The storm destroyed the last hope of the rescue of Lieut. W. J. Harbo and W. A. Gray, army aviators who were lost Thursday in a fog off the New Jersey coast while en route from Mitchell Field, N. Y., to Langley Field, Va.

Three Young Mail Robbers Taken to U. S. Commissioner

Postoffice Inspector Olson of Rockford arrived in Dixon Saturday noon to conduct his investigation of three boys from Chicago, who were held by the local police for robbing mail boxes in the vicinity of Franklin Grove. The trio were taken direct to Freeport where charges of robbing the national mail, which will establish a special Chinese municipality.

Negotiations are opened along similar lines with the northern government at Peking to apply the principles of the Hankow agreement throughout China.

London newspapers, although gratified by the signing of the Hankow agreement, express worry over the Shanghai situation.

A mob of boys and loafers stoned British bibles in Shanghai but were driven off by police.

Belle Plaine, Ia., Bank Closed Doors This Morn

Belle Plaine, Iowa, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The First National Bank of Belle Plaine was closed by its board of directors today. There had been a quiet run for several days, one of the officers said. The bank had a capital stock of $5,000 and deposits of $800,000.

Mrs. Carl Heggert and daughter Helen of Amboy were Dixon visitors today. Miss Heggert is musician at the Amboy moving picture house.

Home in Southwest Part of Town Raided

Sheriff Ward Miller and Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber headed a raiding squad which called unexpectedly at the home of Charles Lawson on East Eighth street last night and conducted a search for intoxicating liquor. According to members of the raiding party, a large quantity of home brew was seized and hauled to the county jail, together with a party of patrons. Lawson was to be arraigned before Justice Grover W. Gehant for preliminary hearing this afternoon.

NO SETTLEMENT IN MINERS' WAGE PARLEY POSSIBLE SUBCOMMITTEE DECIDED TODAY

Illinois is Not Included in Corn Borer Quarantine

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Advice that Illinois will not be included in the corn borer quarantine area was received today by the Illinois Agricultural Association. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine ruled to that effect after Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Association had appeared before the federal horticultural board and protested against adding Illinois to the quarantine area merely because one specimen of the borer had been found.

Quarantining Illinois corn, Mr. Smith continued, would work a hardship on the movement of seed corn to points outside the state as well as upon shippers.

In the meantime the Illinois corn borer committee is proceeding with plans intended to aid in preventing a spread of the borer into this state.

BEHEAD STRIKERS IN SHANGHAI WITH NO SHOW OF TRIAL

Defense Commissioner of City Gave Order to Officers

Cantonese, who took Hangchow last week, continue a steady drive on Shanghai.

"Reign of terror" in Shanghai streets which results in summary beheading of political and labor agitators by Chinese authorities produces swift decrease in strike activities; the number of those executed is variously estimated at from 25 to 30.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian leader who is driving through Hunan province on the Cantonese, is temporarily held up when troops of General Wu Pei Fu, nominal master of the province, disarmed part of Chang's forces and seize ammunition train.

Great Britain, in agreement with Cantonese, will hand over administration of Hankow and Kiukiang to the national government, which will establish a special Chinese municipality.

The agreement indicates that an effort will be made to amalgamate all foreign concessions at those places into one municipal district.

Negotiations are opened along similar lines with the northern government at Peking to apply the principles of the Hankow agreement throughout China.

London newspapers, although gratified by the signing of the Hankow agreement, express worry over the Shanghai situation.

A mob of boys and loafers stoned British bibles in Shanghai but were driven off by police.

Continuing a death-dealing program started yesterday under orders of General Li Jao Chang, defense commissioner of Shanghai, to check the spread of a general strike ordered Saturday, executioners with large swords patrolled the streets and summarily, without semblance of a trial, decapitated the spot men found making seditious speeches or distributing strike literature.

Reliable sources placed the number of beheadings at 25, of which 16 were carried out today, while the nationalistic declared the last 99.

The strike was called allegedly for economic reasons, but in reality to celebrate the nationalist victory in Chekiang province and capture of Hangchow.

Senator Robinson said the President although attentive gave no indication as to his action.

Dixon Window Display Wins Honorable Mention

At Christmas time Sterling's drug store had a most attractive window, decorated by Dewey Kimm, who is a pharmacist at the drug store, the window displaying the DeVilbiss pen, lamp, etc., of Toledo, O. A picture of the window was taken and forwarded to the firm, although the beautiful coloring in the display could not be reproduced. Today Mr. Kimm was notified that he had won a sum of money for honorable mention in the list of handsome windows. The first prize went to New York, prizes of some degree were awarded to nearly every state in the union; the contest being national. Kimm's entry in for honorable mention, and Dixon being the town selected. Prizes were awarded as far as Honolulu.

Pres. Coolidge to Sign McNary-Haugen Farm Bill
Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Plans to President Coolidge to sign the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill were continued today. Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana, telling the President that such action would be exceedingly popular among Indiana farmers.

Senator Robinson said the President although attentive gave no indication as to his action.

Conference Will Probably Adjourn Tomorrow Morning

Miami, Fla., Feb. 21.—(AP)—The sub-committee of the joint wage conference today suddenly adjourned without reaching an agreement on a new wage scale for the central competitive field.

Rice Miller, chairman of the joint conference, announced that the sub-committee would report a failure to reach an agreement before the joint conference at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Representatives of the miners and operators went into session last Monday and appointed the sub-committee to confer on a new wage agreement for the bituminous field which includes Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and western Pennsylvania.

The agreement reached at Jacksonville three years ago expires March 31.

Hopless Deadlock. Conferees announced that the sub-committee was hopelessly deadlocked in the conflicting proposals presented by the miners and operators. Operators took the position that the failure of the sub-body to reach a common ground meant the adjournment of the joint wage conference tomorrow.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declined to comment.

The mine delegates were instructed by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America at Indianapolis to accept the best agreement possible on the basis of no wage reductions while the operators took the position during negotiations that wage reductions alone could solve the problem facing the soft coal industry.

VITRIOLIC DRIVE FOR VOTES NEARS END IN CHICAGO

Primary Tomorrow Holds Interest of Voters of Metropolis

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The last harsh words were said and the candidates in one of Chicago's most vitriolic majority primary campaigns sat back today upon claims of victory at the polls tomorrow.

The republican nominee either will be William Hale Thompson, the world war mayor, or Edward R. Litsinger, member of the Board of Review.

In current, is without material opposition and there is no doubt of his nomination.

In the April election the winning republican and Dever will be confronted by a third candidate, Dr. John Dill Robertson, former commissioner of health, now chairman of the West Park Commission, who will run on a "peoples ownership, smash crime rings" party ticket. He refused to accept the primary on the regular republican ticket with which he previously was affiliated, and turned all the other leading candidates "false faces" for their respective losses.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, has supported Thompson, and Charles S. Benson, Illinois' only U. S. senator, has campaigned for Litsinger. Dever is affiliated with George E. Brennan, national committeeman, recognized as the democratic boss in Illinois.

Dr. Robertson has the support of Fred Lughin, the "poor Swede" who for years has wielded a mighty influence in republican politics in Illinois.

Prosecutions Threatened. Charles H. Simms, father of the girl, announced at Dayton Saturday that he would prosecute his son-in-law if it was proved that the latter became a bigamist in the Newport marriage. Another threat of prosecution came from Lawrence J. Diskin, prosecuting attorney of Campbell county, Ky., where the secret marriage took place.

Stoddard supposedly was in Philadelphia where he had gone from Dayton with the announced intention of "spiking" allegations of a previous marriage.

Freeport Chamber Seeks to Prevent Court House Work

Freeport, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Freeport Chamber of Commerce today filed a petition for an injunction to prevent contractors from proceeding with the work of building additions to the Stephenson county court house, the charge being made that the plans and specifications are vague and incomplete and that the contract entered into between special building committee and a local contractor for the construction of the additions is void. Public sentiment is for a new building.

GOLDEN ARCH OF SCOUTING PROVED FEATURE OF COURT

Rockford Team Gave a Fine Exhibition at Dixon Meeting

Merit badges denoting excellence in various field of Boy Scout activities were awarded to thirty-one Lee and Ogde County Scouts at the Court of Honor held in the court house Friday evening, Feb. 18th. This, the most pretentious Court of Honor ever held in Dixon, was open to the public.

Robert A. Horner of Rockford, has the distinction of having originated a bit of Boy Scout ritualistic work which will be adopted by the Nation at Council of the Boy Scouts of America. This contribution to Scout work is known at the "Golden Arch of Scouting."

Mr. Horner's new ritual centers around an arch which is erected by a team of twelve boys, each of whom adds some piece of masonry to the structure. The arch is wired so that each stone is automatically illuminated as it is laid in place.

Available to All Scouts.
The ritualistic work has been copyrighted by the Rockford Scout Council, but may be used by any Scout organization that cares to make it a part of the regular work.
Boy Scouts, their work, purposes, and the history of the movement, are the subject of a book by the author, which is available at a special price to Scout organizations.

and ideals are known at least in a general way. To fully appreciate how much Scouting does for the boy, one need only to observe the work and results of this organization. This Court of Honor was a public recognition of the work of the boy, as he advanced, step by step, to the different ranks of Scouting. Here, different franks of Scouting. Here, different honors and medals were given him, in the formal, dignified way that his work merits. At the same time, an opportunity was afforded to give words of council and guidance to these boys.

Dixon had the honor of having awarded to one of its boys, Kenneth Haines, the highest reward granted by this Court—the Eagle Scout badge. This badge signifies that Scout Haines has successfully passed through the ranks of Tenderfoot, Sec-

Other boys who are advancing in Scout work, and who are striving to attain the highest of Eagle Rank, such as Kenneth Haines, are: Chan der Sterling, Howard Grube, Ray King, Winston Smith, Walter Watkins, John Kind, Robert Lesage. A Star Scout Badge was awarded to John Dale and Harold Horton. Boys entering Scouting and receiving Tenderfoot pins were: Leonard Heath

David Craig, Robert Sterling, Jr., Herbert Walker, Paul Kulegan, Walter Johnson, Albert Petit, John Mitchell, Theodore Wallin, Kenneth Kroh, Melvin Shank, Robert Shank, John Yeakel, Myron Scott, Jack Naylon, Russell Rehnert, and Roland Mc

These boys, both those who are just starting, and those who have gained some distinction, are being taught, and are teaching, good Citizenship, Thrift, Efficiency, Loyalty, Character and Service. The Court of Honor is the Scout manner of awarding them for their labor.

NEWS of the CHURCHES

TWO "CRUSADERS" WILL SPEND DAY AT SAINT LUKE'S

Visit in Dixon is Part of Bishop's Crusade of Their Church

The "Spiritual Stock-taking" now in progress in the Episcopal church is attracting wide attention outside that denomination. The "Bishops' Crusade" as the movement is called, was authorized by the last General Convention of the Episcopal church, and is being carried out by some 300 Bishops, priests and laymen. It is in no sense a crusade for money or a new-fangled publicity scheme. It is frankly a concerted nation-wide to make its own people realize more fully the spiritual resources at their command in their churches and to get them to utilize it more adequately and use it more consistently. It is aimed to inspire and arouse the whole church membership to a realization of their responsibilities as Christian citizens in present day conditions. It is an answer to the charge of futile piety, Sunday religion and week day irreligion.

Its progress throughout the country has been noted by the press of the great cities; it has attracted the attention of national periodicals. It is something out of the ordinary in that it gets its results in a typical Episcopal manner. The savdust trail and hectic emotionism have no part in it.

St. Luke's Dixon is a rallying point for the Episcopal churches in this vicinity and Tuesday is the date of the visit of two of the Crusaders.

The Rev. Dr. Frank Wilson, of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, prominent in Wisconsin circles and a noted was-Chaplain, and the Rev. Dr. Wilkinson, of the Episcopal church, equally distinguished in Southern church circles are the two men sent to Dixon to link up the Episcopal churches in this vicinity with the movement. Their visit whilst it will naturally attract much attention, is not the end and aim of the movement. Quietly and persistently throughout Lent the Episcopal churches intend to continue stressing the motives of the campaign, 1 o'clock and by 7:30 when the parish meetings will be held Tuesday at St. Luke's as follows:

8:00 A. M. Holy Communion.
8:30 P. M. Meeting for the ladies.
9:30 P. M. Men's Supper and Conference.
8:00 P. M. Mass meeting in church for all.

The general public are cordially welcome to attend our general meeting in the afternoon at three o'clock and in the evening at eight o'clock. They can look for a welcome and a feast of straight Christian talking.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Albert W. Carlson, Minister.
The great crowds all day yesterday were an inspiration both to the preacher and to the people who attended. Last night more than one hundred people came shortly after 7 o'clock and by 7:30 when the orchestra began to play there was nearly a full house.

Next Sunday evening a book sermon by Rev. Carlson. The book to be used is "The Jordans" and is a beautiful picture of the gold and diamond mines in Africa.

A new departure in our Wednesday evenings: Beginning March 2 we will have church night services. We will conduct a night school in religion. We will have regular classes, with competent and trained faculty to teach. This course will last for seven weeks, or every Wednesday until Easter. Program is and will be as follows:

Supper 6:30. Everyone is invited. Community singing during the supper. Gospel songs.
7:25 p. m. Study classes.
1. Pageantry and dramatics.
2. Personal Evangelism class.
3. How to teach religion (Teacher training).
8 p. m. Devotional period and people's service.

Let all of our membership and friends really interested in building a great church program sign up for one of the classes and attend each night. We are building for the great Easter time in the history of the church.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by Allene Sumner

What ails the world, anyway is it growing pains or just plain ornerness?

Here it is all het up nowadays on these choice and edifying and altogether worthwhile themes—

Was Gladstone a sugar daddy? Was and is Charlie Chaplin a complete rotter, a despoiler of women, and an arch-enemy of innocent helpless bairns?

Did Peaches Browning know more than a young gal should know long ere she met her Daddy Browning? What was it so bad that Daddy did? Did he really—and on and on and on and on.

MUCH SPECULATION
Columns and columns of speculation there are on this and that immorality or non-morality on the part of those who, some of them at least, contributed their share to the world's progress and the world's pleasure, and whose personal lives are no more of our business than our own are theirs.

All the world today is indulging in the childish habit, to put it mildly, the crass and boorish habit, to be less charitable, of keyhole snooping.

Polly Fry was an impish, pest of a child. But folks old enough to know better, who titter and tattle and whisper and chortle and look agape at this and that kettle of purely personal fish, are almost if not quite beyond the pale of civilized decency.

What is there to talk about if not people? I once heard a little girl ask when her mother had rebuked her for gossiping with her chum about another little girl, and when the maternal edict of "talk about things and not people" had been given.

SELF-EXCUSE
Older people condone their gossipings about personalities with some sophistries about "liking human topics, not innuendoes."

And so we wallow in cesspools of other people's relationships, and some day wonder why there's a dark brown taste in the mouth and why we are bored and why we're disillusioned and we wonder what in the world the world is coming to, anyway.

All because we demanded the world to give us a cesspool instead of a rainbow.

Well, what shall we talk about? asks the bride player whose idea of a really good time has been to tramp and collect the latest "dirt."

"And what is there to do?" asks the cesspool drinker.

TRY THESE
Any answer will only seem insipid and tasteless to the one who has thrived on a paprika diet of "dirt."

It is hardly worth while to try to give an answer.

Any answer will only seem insipid and tasteless to the one who has thrived on a paprika diet of "dirt."

But for those who do not yet feel about books and radios and pianos and phonographs and auto rides and skating parties and movies and

Unheard of Yesterday, Today They're Stars

Patricia Avery

Unknown yesterday—stars today! That's the story of these three movie actresses, who because of good work in their first years in the films were picked among the thirteen 1927 "Wampus Baby Stars" in Hollywood. Rita Careve, daughter of Edna Careve, and Helene Costello, daughter of the famous Maurice, are following in their dad's movie footsteps. Patricia Avery was a stenographer in a film company. A director liked her smile—now she has "arrived."

Entertained With Luncheon Friday

Mrs. Belle Welzahn and her niece Miss Edith Scott, delightfully entertained twelve guests Friday afternoon with a two course luncheon. The pretty decorations were pink and white. The afternoon was spent in doing fancy work.

The C. C. Circle of the Christian church will hold their annual anniversary dinner with Mrs. L. L. McGinnis, 306 E. Seventh street Tuesday at noon. Each member is requested to bring her own table service. A good attendance of members is desired.

Frances Willard Memorial Meeting

The W. C. T. U. Frances Willard memorial meeting was held Friday afternoon at 2:30 in the Christian church, with Mrs. Maud Hobbs, the president, presiding.

The meeting was attended by members and friends, who were interested in the interesting problem of prohibition and the good derived from the 18th amendment.

The meeting was opened by all singing "March of Allegiance," with Mrs. A. M. McNicol, in piano, followed by all singing "America, the Beautiful."

Mrs. Martha Shippert has charge of the devotion, reading from the 5th chapter of Daniel. Mrs. Alice Missman led in prayer. All joined in singing "The Crusade Hymn." The secretary, Miss Callie B. Morgan, read her report for last month's meeting. The treasurer, Miss Adele Dewey, read her report for last month's meeting.

Rev. W. W. Marshall, then introduced Dr. Boynton, the evangelist of Chicago, who gave a very interesting and pleasing address along the line of rejoicing for our seven years of prohibition, and what it means to America, and its great accomplishments since the passing of the 18th amendment to the constitution. Every W. C. T. U. member should rejoice in the things accomplished in the past years passed since that little prayer band was formed in Ohio. Our schools have advanced and grown in many ways the past seven years; schools and churches are so much better equipped since prohibition, and quickened religiously and spiritually many people. We should all rejoice in prohibition as it helps America, financially, spiritually and educationally. Dr. Boynton's address was a great pleasure to all fortunate in hearing him. Rev. W. W. Marshall gave a pleasing address on the blue ribbon and Band of Hope, in his former home, Scotland, and the changes from then until now. This was followed by the song "Carry on," all singing.

Dr. A. H. Burr, student of Frances Willard, and close friend, gave a very pleasing and interesting address on her life as he knew her, showing pictures of her old home in Janesville, Wis., the surly she used to ride in, Rest Cottage at Evanston, etc. He showed Frances Willard's picture taken in 1874 at Forest Home, nineteen years before she died, and the W. C. T. U. in 1873 she was down at Northwestern, a popular leader and educator. In March 1874, she like Paul, saw her vision and decided to help in the great crusade and temperance work, which is the peace and work for God and home and native land. She trusted her heavenly Father and He blessed the work that followed.

Dr. Burr paid the greatest tribute to Frances Willard and Harriet Beecher Stowe, two of America's greatest women. If the enlightened women of America will stand by the ballot, they can hold prohibition and lawlessness.

The members and friends attending felt it a rare treat to have heard Dr. Burr in his splendid address.

A duet by Misses Alberta Peterson and Mildred Pettit, "And It's There, There to Stay" was very much enjoyed.

Miss Callie B. Morgan read two letters, one about the McFarland home at Rockford and one about the William Jennings Bryan Memorial Home at Miami, Florida.

Mrs. Belle Morris asked that the time of meeting be voted upon and it was decided to begin the meetings promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

The "Life of Frances Willard" was presented to the Union by Miss Anna Mead.

Miss Hannah Heckman brought up the matter of the State Report books which are given to all officers, before the meeting.

The collection was taken, and it was voted to send $2.00 to the Frances Willard memorial fund.

Mrs. Anna Bennett closed the meeting with prayer.

OUR PROSPERITY FOUNDATION.

When the farm depression came upon us in 1920, a depression that was reflected generally for a year or two, it was apparent that such prosperity as we had was based upon activity of the building industry and the motor car factories. Gradually there was a spread of industry that was reflected throughout the country, with the exception of the principal agricultural states that lacked the diversity of interest that is afforded by manufacturing.

It appeared to the casual observer that we were over the hill and that prosperity was general, not limited to the basis of building and motor cars. Comment on this phase by Congressman Cyrenus Cole of Cedar Rapids in his weekly letter to Iowa newspapers is interesting. He was discussing the treasury surplus and saying that a law that produces a surplus this year may not do so next year. Further he said:

"What is called in the west 'the industrial prosperity of the east' to me is not the kind that is very sound. The east has prospered, especially in the large cities, largely by reason of building booms. Six million dollars worth of building a year since the war. Some of it has gone crazy. The promoters do the building and the suckers put up the money by buying building securities without examining them. It's borrow, borrow. The building boom here is worse than Iowa's land boom a few years ago. It is sure to run amuck. In truth it already has collapsed in part. A Washington contractor told me that he had reduced his weekly payroll from $45,000 to $19,000. With the collapse of this eastern building boom there are many idle men in eastern cities. Some of the rest of the prosperity of the east has been in luxuries, such as automobiles and radios. Spending, spending, on top of borrowing and borrowing."

Has our prosperity been based upon two principal industries? The ramifications may have formed the complete circle, of course leaving out agriculture. The building industry as it has been carried on in the cities contributes to the activity of railroads and steel works. Prosperity of railroads contributes also to the steel industry as well as to general welfare with its many lines of purchase and employment. Stimulation of steel results in stimulation of mining.

The motor car business has grown to such proportions that railroad managers have begun to consider that the loss in passenger traffic by reason of travel by automobile is more than made up by the increase in freight produced by the industry.

Building of hard roads is an indirect result of the motor car industry, and that investment, besides taking up common labor, and material, gives business to the railroads and adds to all lines to which the railroads contribute business.

When the war ended the building industry was far behind demands. Men in the material and construction business probably have kept in touch with figures pertaining to actual necessities in their lines. There is a possibility that promotion of office buildings and apartments in large cities has been overdone, and that reaction is impending, as Mr. Cole suspects.

The Cedar Rapids congressman usually writes in an optimistic vein, and his observations were recorded only to prove that a United States treasury surplus this year may not mean that there will be one next year.

The day's news yields advanced data on the millenium. Thus: Pullman porters have begun an anti-tip campaign. It is said they actually want salaries. . . . Chicago Swedes claim Theodore Roosevelt and George Washington had Swedish blood. Sure, and don't leave out Adam. . . . Citizens of Essex, Mass., scour woods for hugar. The dispatch didn't say whether the posse was made up of men or women. . . . King George has springs put on royal carriage after "riding the rods" 17 years. Science certainly flies in Britain. . . . Flappers in New Orleans go barefoot during floods. . . . Large buck deer leaps through plate glass window in Antwerp, N. Y., stirring village. Not the first time a town has been aroused by a stag affair. . . . And so on, until, if Dawes wishes to throw away his pipe, he may.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites were much surprised when all of them all realized that they had landed safely on a tiny cloud of smoke. They jumped up to their feet, at once. Said Clowry, "I feel like a dunce. I simply cannot stand up, and I think it's all a joke." Then, Clowry added, "Gee, this cloud is as soft as it can be. It's really like we're walking on a monstrous rubber band. We bounce around and round and then, we sit right down and bounce again. I'm getting tired of doing this. I wish that I could stand!"

The other Tinymites tried their luck. It seemed their little feet got stuck. They couldn't get their balance and twas funny, after while. Then Coppy shouted, "Just watch me. To stand is easy as can be. But when he tried to do it, he made all the others smile.

Their cloud went drifting through the air. They knew it, but they

SAINT and SINNER

Tears spilled over Faith's flushed cheeks as she flung her clothes helterskelter into the smallest of the three suitcases she had brought so hopefully from home. Still unpacked was the heavy case, containing other delicate treasures of her treasure chest. She would never see that terrible Frank again, with his "swell scheme." She had a sudden insane impulse to tear his cheek to bits and disdainfully fling it into the waste basket. But even in her humiliation and blind anger she realized that a thousand dollars would be literally a life-saver for the Lanes. "Starring kid" Oh!

Three times before she finished packing the telephone rang. She answered curtly, resentfully, too angry to be courteous to the cajoling reporters who advanced lengthy arguments as to why she should consent to an interview. A time table told her that a train which stopped at her home town was scheduled to leave Chicago at twelve forty-five. She telephoned the night clerk to have her bill sent up, but refused his solicitous offer to make a Pullman reservation for her. Reporters at the train! If she could only escape them—

She found two eager, insistent young men waiting in the hall at her door. She almost ran after the boy carrying her suitcases, but in the lobby of the hotel she threw up a protective arm just a moment too late to escape being photographed again. Her tactics were trailed by two cars filled with reporters and photographers. But she managed to gain the sanctuary of the women's dressing room of a Pullman car just before the train pulled out, almost too hysterically triumphant to have escaped without having to talk.

The Pullman porter accepted her shakily written telegram, promising to get it off at the next station, and she went to sleep at last, immensely comforted by the thought that Bob Hathaway would be waiting for her when she arrived. But the porter must have gossiped a bit with travelers who boarded the train late that night, for as Faith scrubbed her wan cheeks and brushed her long, gleam-

BUILDING DROPS OFF IN ILLINOIS DURING JANUARY

But Three Cities in State Reported an Increase Then

Chicago, Ill., (AP)—Building operations authorized in January in 28 Illinois cities decreased 19.5 per cent as compared with the previous month. The decline is regarded as an expected seasonal event.

The decrease amounted to $6,297,497. Only three cities reported an increase. Freeport gained $128,700 in permits, Joliet $114,600, and Rock Island $58,012. Chicago was responsible for $3,111,420 of the decrease for the state. Compared with January a year ago, however, the state showed a gain of $3,917,114, or 17.7 per cent. The situation this January, in spite of a drop of 19.5 per cent from December's building valuations, was regarded as more encouraging than in the corresponding month a year ago, when the decrease from December to January was more than 21 per cent.

During January this year the value of new residential buildings amounted to more than three times the value of new non-residential building; 722 new houses and apartment buildings were planned at an estimated cost of $19,363,560.

Evanston led all cities in the metropolitan area, outside Chicago, in value of January building, with a total of $832,750, of which $794,500 was new building. Berwyn was second, with a total of $224,400; Oak Park third, with $156,875; Cicero fourth, with $162,470.

Rockford is leading

Outside the metropolitan area, Rockford with 157,735, led all other cities in total value of buildings authorized during the month. Freeport follows with $155,700; Joliet is third with $152,200; Decatur is fourth with $133,550.

In home building in the metropolitan area Chicago planned new house-keeping dwellings for 2,515 families. Evanston was next with provision for 128 families. Berwyn, third, with plans for 51 families; Oak Park fourth, planning for 35 families; Cicero fifth with provision for 21 families.

Outside the metropolitan area, Rockford, 34 families; Decatur 19 families; Peoria, 14 families; East St. Louis, 10 families.

Glen Ellyn, Joliet and Rock Island are the only communities in which new non-residential building surpassed in value new residential building during January. In the latter classification, Joliet led all cities in the state outside Chicago, which new non-residential building valued at $110,000. Rock Island was second with $57,200; Waukegan third with $35,000; Decatur fourth, with $32,800; Cicero, with $28,570 and Aurora, with $27,965 are fifth and sixth, respectively.

SPORTS OF SORTS "RESULTS COUNT" MOTTO OF PILOT OF DETROIT TEAM

Moriarty Says Early Predictions Don't Mean a Thing

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 21.—(AP)—"Predictions don't mean a thing; results count."

This is the philosophy that George Moriarty, new manager of the Detroit American league baseball club, will carry with him in his efforts to develop a team of winning Tigers.

Taking over a team that includes several hitters high up in the percentage column, and which on the face of previous performances promises will for the 1927 season, Moriarty intends to withhold his appraisal of prospects until after the training camp period.

"On paper and past performances," he told The Associated Press today, a team might appear to be an almost irresistible force, and then run into a bit of ill luck that would nullify those prospects glimmering. Baseball requires that chances be taken and these changes sometimes bring injuries that put valuable players on the hospital list."

He cites several instances of last year where bright prospects of certain teams were dashed by such accidents.

Although he declined to venture any predictions, Moriarty let it be known that the personnel of the Tiger team is causing him no worry.

Learned as Empire.

"As an umpire," he said, "I've had opportunity to watch impartially every team in the American League, and I can say without fear of contradiction that there is no more aggressive team in the major leagues. Detroit will have an aggressive infield, and Marty McManus, recently acquired from St. Louis will fit well into that combination. In Blue we have one of the greatest first basemen in the game. He has fielding ability, great base running qualities and is a generally good hitter."

"There is a wealth of natural ability in the pitching staff and it's about due to come out."

The Tiger leader remarked: "I'm not worrying about catchers, either." He also indicated that with Manush, Heilmann and Fothergill for the outfield he was not very much concerned about that section of the Tiger line-up.

The greatest essential to a winning baseball team, Moriarty holds, is a well balanced pitching staff.

Thinks Team Balanced.

The second essential, the Tiger manager believes, is good hitting, and he thinks more of the prospects of a well balanced team than he does of the team that carries an outstanding star. "The outstanding star," he said, "is the team, for the opposing team always works harder against him than it does against the average player. I do not mean by this that a good ball team comes up particularly against a fancied weak player, but the desire to 'get' the star player always is more intense. It's psychology again."

Moriarty also is not much impressed with the "baseball stylist." "Style on the ball field is attractive," he said, "but it doesn't always win games. I've seen some of the most awkward appearing players put over some of the most brilliant plays on the diamond. They'll lumber around the field until you think they were hopeless. Yet, when a drive or a throw comes along, they get it. Results are what count."

INDIANA ALONE AT TOP OF "BIG TEN" SCRAMBLE

Some Hot Games Will be Played Tuesday Evening in Race

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Some budding cherry trees in the Big Ten basketball league may feel the hatchet tomorrow night.

The grand shakeup of Saturday which dumped Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin from a triple tie at the top of the standings to a quartet arrangement with Iowa for second place, with Indiana rising to solitary leadership, may be duplicated in a measure in the Washington day games.

The schedule is so arranged that at least one team will be jarred from second place. That is because Iowa and Wisconsin meet. Michigan may beat Chicago to be sure of her place, but Purdue faces the certain prospect of being shoved down, even though it has no game scheduled because victory for Wisconsin, Michigan or Iowa would put them above the Boilermakers. Purdue however, may easily step forward again Wednesday when it meets Northwestern, the only team in the conference that has not won a game.

It will be a busy week for all the Big Ten basketball men. Every team plays at least once, while Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, Chicago, Michigan and Northwestern each have two games on their scheduled.

The contest for individual basketball shooting distinction also was tightened. A re-check of the total points of Captain Daugherty of Illinois and Hunt of Ohio State today showed these two tied for first place with 51 each.

"STREET CORNER" TITLE AT STAKE IN CHICAGO RING

Bud Taylor Will Meet Eddie Shea Thurs- day Evening

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The "street corner championship" is the title at stake when Bud Taylor, the Indiana blonde boxer meets Eddie Shea here Thursday in a ten round encounter. Taylor is recognized in Illinois and thirteen other states, and innumerable communities, including Terre Haute, Ind., as the bantamweight champion, but this crown will not be involved in his scrap with Shea, as the two will weigh in at 122 pounds, the old time featherweight limit. Shea takes the place of Tony Canzone, the eastern midweight, who cancelled his championship bout with Taylor because of illness.

The Taylor-Shea match was made after much wrangling about the weight. Taylor would be happier fighting at about 125 pounds, his natural fighting poundage. Taylor's manager made it clear to all concerned that he wanted Shea to come in at weight, because he served notice that if the west side Italian with the Irish name was one ounce over 122 pounds he would claim his forfeit.

This match is what the gymnasium gossipers term a "natural." By that it is meant that the battle will stir up enough interest to pack the Coliseum where Promoter Jim Mulvan will stage the match. Further, the fans will gather with that tingling feeling of anticipation that they are going to see something sanguinary, when the little men begin to smack each other with the gloves.

A battle between Taylor and Shea has been impending for a year, but the question of weight has heretofore prevented the managers coming to an agreement.

ILLINOIS MINERS SAFER THAN MOST FOLKS IN STATE

Have Greater Freedom from Fatal Hazards Than Average

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Barring the usual run of mine accidents, coal miners of Illinois enjoy a much greater freedom from fatal health hazards than does the population at large. Even with the factor of accidental death added, the mortality rate among coal miners is still noticeably less than among the general population above fifteen years old, said a report by Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director.

"Contrary to popular belief," said Dr. Rawlings, "working in coal mines does not predispose to tuberculosis, pneumonia, influenza and other respiratory diseases."

In 1925, for instance, the mortality from tuberculosis among coal miners in the state was 32.2 per 100,000 while among the general population above age fifteen, it was 105. The death rate from pneumonia was 61 among the miners and 76 in the general group. For heart disease it was 190 and for cancer 110 among miners against 282 and 149 respectively in the older than fifteen general population group.

"Accidents, on the other hand, account for a much higher mortality rate among miners than among the general population. This accounts in the mines resulted in 115 fatalities or 143 per 100,000 among the over 15 year group. Fatal railroad and automobile accidents average a third higher among miners than the other group."

For all causes of death the miners experienced a mortality rate of 11.6 per 1000, while the general population above 15 years old lost 13.5 per 1000. Excluding accidents in the mines, by far the greatest single cause of mortality among miners in 1925, other accidents, homicide, suicide and alcoholism from both groups, the mortality rate among miners stands at 8.7 against 12.2 among the general population of over 15 years of age.

ROAD BUILDERS OF ILLINOIS MEET IN COURSE OF STUDY

Annual Short Course Opens Tomorrow at Ill. University

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Highway builders, county township officers and technical road experts, men who planned and carried out the great major hard surface highway projects in Illinois, were arriving here today to attend the fourteenth highway short course to be given by the University of Illinois.

The four-day intensive program opens tomorrow and the visitors will be busy every minute following the proceedings as mapped out by the university's department of civil engineering. The state, through the division of highways is cooperating.

Milo S. Ketchum, an engineer of international reputation and dean of the college of engineering of the University, officially opens the short course with an address of welcome. The response will be made by Col. C. R. Miller, director of the state department of public works and buildings, then will follow two important addresses, the first by N. C. Huntington, dean of the department of civil engineering, will discuss "Developments in Transportation." He will be followed by Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer for Illinois, who will present the "Proposed Gasoline Tax for Illinois."

Tuesday afternoon will be given over to departmental sessions for district administrative officers, the county superintendents, township commissioners and supervisors, and a third for the same 11 engineers.

There will be two sessions on both Wednesday and Thursday and a concluding session Friday morning. Not only general highway problems, bridge building, right of way court decisions, results on experimental roads and other highway research, drainage, beautification, safety and others.

42 STATIONS TO BROADCAST PRES. COOLIDGE SPEECH

Executive Will Speak Tomorrow on Wash- ington's Life

Washington, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Publication of a letter in Kansas City claimed to have been written by George Washington to his wife shortly before the signing of the Declaration of Independence in which he expressed "love for my king" and resented becoming a "rebel" shared equal interest here today with plans for one of the greatest celebrations tomorrow commemorating the first President's birth.

President Coolidge will address a joint session of the senate and house. His speech, to be broadcast to millions of listeners over a 42 station hook-up, arranged by the National Broadcasting Company, and probably relayed to European radio fans by London stations, will set in motion plans for celebration of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth in 1832.

Historians here declined to offer any opinion as to the probable authenticity of excerpts of the "lost" letter produced in Kansas City as one though W. C. Ford, former chief of the manuscript division of the library of congress, acquired in Cambridge, Mass., that the missive was probably a forgery.

Worshippers of Sun Found in Armenia

Lennhak, Soviet Armenia.—(AP)—While carrying out relief work in the Armenian earthquake zone, American nurses attached to the Near East Relief Organization discovered a hitherto unknown race of Sun worshippers. These people, who call themselves "Izids," live in 14 scattered villages on the slopes of the giant volcanic mountain Alagoz. They are believed to be the only surviving Sun worshippers in Europe.

Contrary to the little known and mysterious Persian Mountains, the Izids have retained for centuries their native religious customs and beliefs, jealously guarding against any intrusion of outsiders or of intercourse with other people. The American nurses spoke to them in Armenian, but found they understood only their own idiom, which resembles slightly the Kurdish tongue.

The Izid women are singularly beautiful, and dress in gay, colorful skirts. In the noses they wear large barbaric rings.

The Sun worshippers are governed by a "Folk," who at the same time is their religious director. They perform their religious ceremonies only on the summits of the highest mountains, where their Sun-God is usually always visible and where no profane eye intrudes.

CITY dwellers moving toward the country and farmers seeking more comfortable living conditions are dotting the countryside with new or rebuilt houses, compact, tastefully designed and complete with modern conveniences.

The Dutch colonial house pictured here illustrates one type of inexpensive country home, suitable either for the suburbanite or the honest-to-goodness farmer. It is scientific in arrangement, charming in appearance and has been designed to offer the accommodations required by the conditions of country life.

Special Features

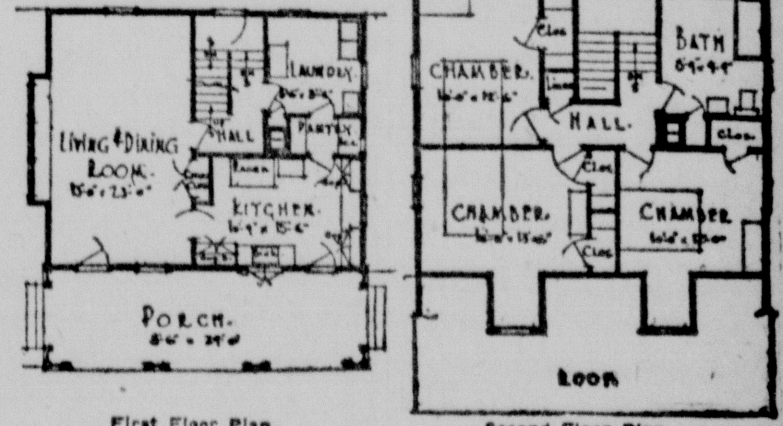

On the second floor there are three good-sized bedrooms, five closets and a bathroom large enough to hold a single bed in an emergency. On the first floor the combination living and dining room occupies one side of the house. It has a built-in china cabinet with glass doors and drawers for table linen and silver below. The built-in window is a sunny place for geraniums and potted plants in winter.

The kitchen is large and well planned, has windows on two sides and adequate wall space for sink, work table, range and gas hot plate. Both pantry and kitchen are conveniently located, and the latter is quite large and has facilities to enable its use as a washroom. The cellar runs the full length of the building and will house the furnace and provide extra space for storage.

homes, is suggested for the present house, since it can be used for convenience cooking and ironing, as well as lighting, and it makes the householder independent of outside supply. The light is soft and white. The plant is buried under a ground a short distance from the house, and the gas, which generates automatically, is conveyed by ordinary city gas piping to the various rooms and outbuildings.

This house has been modestly designed and was planned to be built of frame construction with wood siding exterior. It should be

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF TRAGIC DEATH OF TWO LAST EVE

Youth, Refused Com- pany of Girl, Shot Her and Himself

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Jealousy, aroused when he saw her with another young man, police say, caused the death at Marion, Iowa, last night of Dorothy Oxy, 17, and Kenneth Fehr, 18. Fehr shot and killed the girl and then shot himself, inflicting wounds which caused his death two hours later.

Miss Oxy, with a girl companion and Earl Biggs, son of a former mayor, were approached by Fehr as they were returning from church. The girl refused his company.

Hurrying home, telling his mother she would never see him alive again, Fehr obtained his revolver and rushed down the street, overtook Miss Oxy and her companions and without a word fired a bullet into her head. As she dropped mortally wounded, he shot himself, and dropped at her feet, also fatally wounded.

Friends say Miss Oxy had never regarded the boy as a sweetheart although they had gone together a few times. Both were members of prominent families.

Paris Finds Novel Fields for Rubber

Paris.—(AP)—The rubber house may soon be a reality in Paris.

Following an exhibition here of rubber furniture and household utensils, orders have been placed for many of the articles shown.

The "rubber room" was the curiosity that drew the greatest number of sightseers. Tables and chairs of extremely hard black rubber, a dining table of the same material and white, hard rubber plates and egg dishes furnished all the essentials of a dining room.

Rubber matting of improved fabrication took the place of a carpet.

One hundred and fifty-two descendants were left by Mrs. Elizabeth Langley, who has just died, at the age of 93, at Hallsam, England.

"Ah, my friend, you seem to have a very stiff neck."

"Yes, I got it while sketching in Italy."

"In an accident?"

"No, I painted the Leaning Tower of Pisa."—Sondagnisse-Strix.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Death strikes GARRETT FOLSON while bathing at Ocean Town, N. J. It is thought at first he is a stroke victim, but investigation shows he has been stabbed to death beneath the water.

Folson's swimming companions had been ROGER SEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNARD and CARMELITA VAIDON. It is established that Folson, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BATH-ROD, known as the copper king.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pickaxe on a wooden handle, and that it had been brought on the boardwalk.

It is also established that one CLOYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious knives. Anastasia engages FETTS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives, and takes over Folson's

AGED COOK FOR HUNTERS LEADS ALL MERRY PACE

Can Follow Dogs All Day, Then Dance a Jig After Work

Roberval, Que. (AP)—"Jimmie" Robertson, cook for tourist parties in the frozen north, is 75 years old, but he can follow a dog team all day, cook and wash dishes, and then dance a jig to prove how young he is.

Jimmie has followed the dogs for 25 years and is the father of five sons, all guides. On occasion he will discuss trails, hunting, and fishing, but as for himself—Jimmie has spent his 75 years learning not to talk. Recently a party travelled half a day with him before learning that he speaks English.

For 15 miles Jimmie's only conversation has been commands to his dogs—"whoa" or "hurry on." Jimmie has become "mush on" in Alaska. One of the party, assuming that all guides in this region were French or half breed, asked Jimmie a question in halting French. Jimmie answered in a reply in perfect English and further embarrassed by learning that Jimmie's last name is Robertson.

A companion told of the jig episode which took place after Jimmie had fed seven hungry men. This other guide declares that Jimmie thinks nothing of the 35 mile jaunts which constitute an average day's journey, and that he is often fresh when other guides are fagged out. Jimmie calls his team and heavily loaded sled over hills with the best.

Jimmie has plotted Hudson's Bay Company officials, railway surveyors, traders, hunters and fishermen in his time. He now works on the "Blanc Bec" or "white nose" trails, so called because they have been developed to accommodate tourists, whose nasal organs are unaccustomed to the severe cold, are likely to freeze than those of the old-timers.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

A GENTLEMAN UNASHAMED

The evangelistic services at the First Baptist church are still continuing to draw the people. Last night with the auditorium well filled, Miss Graves and Mr. Conrad sang a beautiful duet. After the service the pastor conducted the beautiful baptismal service in which several who had confessed Christ during the meetings were baptized. The Rev. W. W. Marshall, the pastor of the church preached on the above subject.

He said: "When Benjamin Harrison was President of the United States his friends used to call him the Gentleman Unashamed. I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ for it is the power of God unto Salvation."

to everyone that believeth." Home at that time was the seat of all military and political power in the world. It was the center of intellectual pride of spacious philosophies. In her literature and art had her best patrons. The civilized world of that day looked to her for their standards of wealth and pleasure.

And Paul was coming to Rome not with any great letters of introduction. With no pomp or symbol of pride and power. He was no inventor of genius to tickle the fabled interests of the imperial court. It was with no fresh philosophy or sparkling gem of poetry that he was preparing to storm the city of the seven hills, imperial Rome. He was coming to introduce a new religion and to tell the story of a man who was Very God who had been crucified at the command of Roman judges. He was bringing his challenge to the very throne of Caesar—the lord of the world and time has vindicated his challenge.

The essence of his message was power and power had an appeal that the Roman world understood. The sphere of his message was in the salvation that that Gospel proclaimed. It was deliverance, not only from sin but from eternal death. Both death and sin are super powers and even Caesar was not immune from their attack. Sin disturbs a man's reason, corrupts his imagination, weakens his will and disarms his courage. Sin has eaten into man's powers and poisoned his whole being and the only thing that can deal with sin and death is this dynamic of salvation, the Gospel of Christ. The condition upon which this gospel is received is very simple. "To everyone that believeth." All that we have got to do is to appropriate it.

After the service, several decided to begin to serve Christ. Tonight will be the 100th family night. We want every family to come tonight and sit together in the church. Come whether your family in one or twenty. Dr. Boynton will be with us and he will bring a special message for the family. Don't fail to hear him while he is in town. Miss Vivian Graves will again sing to us some of the sweet songs of Zion.

Don't forget tonight at 7:10 p. m. prayer meeting in the east room. The service at 7:30 p. m. A hearty welcome awaits you. Come.

BETHEL U. E. REVIVALS

The revival meetings at Bethel United Evangelical church, N. Galena Ave. at E. Morgan St., entered the third and last week yesterday. Dr. T. P. Cooke, the evangelist, preached three times to audiences that comfortably filled the church auditorium. All three sermons stressed the necessity of complete surrender to the will of God, and complete separation from the world, if our lives were to be pleasing to God and satisfying to ourselves.

The sermon in the morning was on "The Lordship of Jesus Christ" and was based on the text "ye call me master and Lord, and ye say well, for so I am." Dr. Cooke pointed out that it was much easier and he was afraid, much more common to call Christ "Lord" and "Master" than it was to really make him such in our lives. He also pointed out the utter futility, so far as the world is concerned, of a mere profession of Christ's control in our lives, where such control was not evidenced by our daily walk and conversation.

The afternoon service, which was especially well attended was marked by an unusual manifestation of the presence of God.

The evangelist's message on "The Victorious Life," was largely his own personal testimony, though based on a knowledge of the teaching of God's word on this very important phase of Christian life. His contention was that a victorious life—a life of continued, sustained, uninterrupted, victory over sin—is the heritage of all believers, and is the normal, though not the ordinary and usual Christian life. And it is only that kind of a life, said Dr. Cooke, that will make it possible to "sell" our product to others. We must prove to them that it really "works."

In the evening, the message on "Selling out to Christ" was from the incident of the rich young ruler, who came very earnestly to Jesus, asking how he might inherit eternal life, but turned away "grieved" when he heard the price. Dr. Cooke proved to his hearers, quite conclusively, from scripture and other illustrations, that it was worth while to pay the price. It was an unusually strong presentation of the claims of Jesus Christ to the entire life of every Christian, and that eternal life is not to be "inherited," but is received as a gift from God to the sinner, who deserves nothing.

The men's quartette from the Evangelical church of Polo, was present Sunday night, and added greatly to the enjoyment of the service, but to its value as well. This week every sermon is a "special" sermon, dealing with some of the greatest truths of the Bible, and it is hoped that the house may be

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory ailments, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

full every night. The following themes will be discussed:

Monday night—"Satan, and the Conflict of the Ages."

Tuesday night—"Your Soul, and Its Value."

Wednesday night—"Hell, and the Way of Escape."

Thursday—"Heaven, and How to Get There."

Friday—"Jesus Christ, and His Coming Again."

Cottage prayer meetings will be held each of four mornings of the week, and two prayer meetings, one for men, in the basement of the church, and one for young people, in the Christian Endeavor room, are held each evening preceding the public service. Those interested and eligible, are urged to get into one or the other. Mr. Carl Hess is doing excellent work in conducting the opening song service, and in occasional solos. Attend the meetings this last week, if possible.

New York—Fifteen Americans have life insurance of $4,000,000 or more. More than 200 carry $1,000,000. Rodman Wanamaker, New York merchant, leads with $7,500,000. Mrs. Mollie Necher Newbury of Chicago leads women with $2,000,000. Mrs. Evelyn Marshall Field of Chicago carries $2,000,000; Louise Lathrop, Detroit realty operator, $1,000,000; Gloria Swanson, $2,000,000; Mary Pickford, $1,000,000. The figures come from the national underwriters.

Art Calendars Born from Iowa Woodcut

Red Oak, Iowa—(AP)—With a woodcut of Montgomery county's first courthouse, then being built, two college chums printed the first art calendar 40 years ago.

Thus Thomas D. Murphy and Edmund Osborne innovated an industry which now estimates its annual business at $30,000,000 and of which Red Oak is an important center.

They tried the courthouse picture first in other county seats, but met with slim response. They hung on, improved their workmanship, and presently had a growing business. When Osborne bought out Murphy in 1895 and moved the plant to New Jersey, Murphy started a new concern here which flourished.

The first art calendars were "terrible," Murphy grant, but the boys went from woodcuts to pretty girl pictures and prosperity. Now the pretty girl is obsolete for illustrative purposes in the calendar business, and her place is being taken by more formal art.

TILL FARMS IN ENGLAND IN OLD FASHIONED WAYS

Some Sections Using Methods Followed Centuries Ago

Lincoln, England—(AP)—Farming by Anglo-Saxon methods which were in vogue a thousand years ago still is practiced in a few communities of England. Land is divided into long strips, the idea being that no farmer will have an unfair share of the best ground.

Russia is the only modern nation where "strip" farming is practiced extensively.

In the northwest part of the English county of Lincolnshire, of which Epworth, John Wesley's birthplace, is the chief town, and at Lexington, in Nottinghamshire, an ancient village of 400 people, this old-world system of agriculture exists just as it did before William the Conqueror and his Norman legions came to England.

All around the village of Laxton are 900 acres of wide, open fields each field known by a distinguishing name. There are no fences or hedges, and one can step into the fields from the roads.

One strip or field is planted with wheat, a second with barley, oats, beans or peas, and a third field lies fallow to take the place of one of the other fields next year. So the rotation continues year after year. The only boundary between the strips is a narrow belt of grass.

After harvest, the villages pasture their horses and cattle on the fields, a field jury of twelve men declaring when the pastures are ready for grazing.

HERBERT HOOVER'S VIEWS

We have evolved the best actual service to the people from utilities that there is in the world.

Moreover, there is a diffusion of service and use among our people double and treble the proportions to the population of any other country. A larger proportion have telephones.

The wages in our utilities give the highest standard of living and comfort on the earth. If our utilities were dominated by the malign forces that some contend, these things would never have come about.—Herbert Hoover.
